DESTROYED EARTHQUAKE.

The City of Zante Almost Entirely Destroyed.

Several Persons Killed and Many Injured.

ATHENS, April 17. The island of Zante, one of the principal Ionian Islands, was visited by a destructive earthquake this morning, resulting in great loss of life and property. The island sustained a vast amount of damage by seismic disturbances and a large number of lives were lost. The shock this morning destroyed a greater part of the city of Zante. The people are much shocked and authorities helpless. The streets are impassable, being filled with masses of stone and timber. Thus far, bodies of twenty persons, killed by falling walls, have been found in the debris and it is feared that many more dead are still in the ruins. The number of persons injured runs up into the hundreds.

The full extent of the calamity cannot be estimated at present, as ships will be dispatched with clothing, provisions and medicines for the sufferers. Advice has been given to the islanders to remain in the island as the island has been devastated. Many villages have been destroyed and it is feared the loss of life will be very heavy. Most of the buildings that stood erect at the time of the earthquake and March were either thrown down or shattered so as to be unfit for occupancy.

THE LINCOLN ASSASSINATION.

Two days ago, on Friday

John Wilkes Booth fired the shot which killed Abraham Lincoln.

While the incidents attending the tragic death of President Lincoln, twenty-eight years ago, are fresh and indelible in the memories of those who were in active part in the drama, and the details of the tragedy, which we find in the columns of the New York Morning Advertiser will be of interest to thousands of the younger generation.

Twenty-eight years ago to-day and five days after the bitter struggle between the North and the South had ended with the surrender at Appomattox, Abraham Lincoln was assassinated at Ford's Theatre,

Washington, by John Wilkes Booth, the last person on earth whom President Lincoln considered an enemy. He was the assassin of our American hero.

The play which Mr. Lincoln was watching when he was shot, "The Verona," was a tragedy. His version of the crime has never before been told. It is as follows:

"Ford's Theatre in Washington was an amusement place, and the lower boxes were sunk below the level of the stage. The main boxes were only about six feet above the stage. There were double boxes, but on that night the stage was raised to the level of the large party that was expected, with the President. The party was taken out of the large party that was expected, with the

large party that was expected, with the
